Pay Shelf At Library Is Being Well Patronized

The Pay Shelf at the Grimsby Public Library inaugurated last year in order to get absolutely new books into the hands of those willing to pay for them, is working out most satisfactorily. Three cents a day is charged for them and the revenue is used for general purposes. The books after they have been on the shelf for a certain period are put on the free shelf. The inauguration of this plan has enabled the Board to add to the free shelf more than one hundred books which otherwise would not have been possible. The books, owing to the care given them by patrons who have been using them, are practically new and are in this way made available to the general reading public. Ordinarily they would not have been available for about a year. The new books which are placed on the pay shelf are ordered before they are published so that the reading public has access to the latest books immediately after they are issued by the publishers.

Many Attend "Bums Nite" Held By Grimsby Lodge

A "Bums Nite" staged by Grimsby Lodge, No. 369, I.O.O.F., on Monday evening provided a highly entertaining evening and attracted a big turnout of members, novel features adding to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Those attending were required to conform to a certain mode of dress and were forbidden to come dressed up under the penalty of a fine.

The invitations issued gave due notice of the attire to be worn with particular as to the amount of fine to be imposed for non observance. Fore dress collar 3 cents, silk box 02, tie 02 good shined shoes 05, white shirt 03, good cote and pants 05, admission 7 cents, every seventh brother pays double or 14 cents." ## Visits Grimsby Seeking Recovery of Car

A. J. Shillington, Niagara Falls, N. Y., was at Grimsby recently making an effort to recover a motor car which was seized by the Customs Department, Sunday, from Leonard Ford, a negro, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., when the latter was unable to show proper customs entry. Shillington alleges that he sold the car on a small down payment, and that Ford came to Canada in July with the car, since which time, Shillington says, he has been unable to collect his notes for the balance due.

JAIL BREAKER FIGHTS WARDERS

Attempt To Escape From St. Catharines Prison—Sentence of Two Years Imposed

Russel Kavanagh was sentenced to two years in penitentiary when he pleaded guilty to assaulting the governor and turnkey and attempting to escape from the Lincoln county jail. An attempted jail-break was foiled by Turnkey Bernard Clench and Governor John Dundas of the Lincoln county jail Saturday night, but only after both had sustained painful injuries.

Russel Kavanagh, on remand on suspicion of stealing milk bottles, is alleged to have been responsible for the attempt. Clench was exercising four prisoners and on returning them to the cell, he said, was attacked by Kavanagh and the latter threw him into a cell and locked the door.

Governor Dundas heard the uproar and came to investigate. As he entered, however, Kavanagh struck him with the huge key. Dazed and bleeding, the governor clung to his youthful assailant and put in a riot call to the city police.

HERBERT D. GLOVER NEW WARDEN

Reeve of Saltfleet Honored By Colleagues of Wentworth County Council

Election by his colleagues of Herbert D. Glover, reeve of Saltfleet township to the wardenship of Wentworth county took place when the county council met for its statutory meeting Tuesday afternoon, when Mr. Glover was installed, the retiring warden escorting him to the chair. The session, which opened at 2 o'clock, was of short duration. After results of the recent elections in the various municipalities constituting Wentworth county were read by John E. Peart, county clerk, and the members had taken their places, the meeting adjourned to reconvene with the status of a committee of the whole. Naming of a striking committee whose duty consisted of selecting the persons for the various committees of the council followed. This body will report its recommendations when the council meets again to-morrow morning.

In naming Mr. Glover the 1932 warden, the council followed a long-standing precedent by which elevation goes to the chairmen of the roads and bridges committee of the previous year's council.

Mr. Glover was also reeve of the township of Saltfleet for a number of years, is a leading citizen of the district and his friends will congratulate him on the high honor which has come to him.

TRIBUTES PAID W. J. TAYLOR

Fellow Publishers and Citizens In All Walks of Life Honor His Memory—Funeral At Woodstock

From distant cities and from the nearby countryside, came many fellow-craftsmen, friends and neighbors to the funeral of William James Taylor, proprietor of the Woodstock Sentinel-Review. They joined with the citizens of Woodstock in honoring the memory and work of the publisher who had served the community for twenty-seven years, the funeral being held on Friday afternoon last.

Hundreds thronged "The Gables," the Taylor home, at the service conducted by Rev. H. B. Ashby, rector of New St. Paul's Anglican Church. Others stood on the lawn and sidewalk. "As from every walk of life, under all conditions, high and low, rich and poor, and every circle, we hear these words: 'He will be greatly missed,' said the clergyman, 'these flowers that speak to us of the glorious resurrection also testify to the same fact—he will be greatly missed.'"

Fire Does $1000 Damage To House At Grimsby Beach

A fire loss of about $1000 resulted from a stubborn blaze which broke out in the house of David Walters, Grimsby Beach on Monday evening. The interior was badly gutted. The Grimsby Fire Brigade which was summoned by George Fair, Park superintendent, made a quick response and for nearly two hours fought the fire which, it is thought, was caused from an overheated stove. The fire was a difficult one to get at, the fire-proof roofing keeping the blaze from breaking through. No one was in the building at the time. The owner was visiting at the home of a friend at the time and did not know of it until notified by neighbors.

A passerby noticed the flames and notified the park superintendent. Fortunately the house is some distance away from other properties so that there was no danger of igniting nearby dwellings.

The water pressure was unusually good, the firemen utilizing two lines of hose.

Many citizens gathered at the scene of the fire.

In order to form a strong association it had been decided to include in the St. Catharines branch, Niagara Falls, Welland, Dunnville, Portfranklin, Beamsville, Grimsby, Pt. Colborne, Merriton and Thorold.

The importance of proper training for men intending to engage in retail merchandising was emphasized by Prof. Dunlop, director of the extension department, University of Toronto.

INSPIRING SERVICES

Anniversary of Baptist Church Observed On Sunday—Large Congregations In Attendance

Very attractive and helpful anniversary services were held in the Baptist church on Sunday. The speaker was Rev. H. E. Stillwell, of Toronto, secretary of the Canadian Baptist Foreign Mission Board. As a missionary to India for fifteen years and as a student of religious movements Dr. Stillwell has acquired an intimate knowledge of world conditions, and in the evening he emphasized the world-wide application of the text, I, "If I be lifted up I will draw all men unto Me." The Presbyterian and United church congregations, and the Baptist congregation of Beamsville met with the Baptists in the evening service. The choir ably assisted by the Misses McMeekin, of Brantford, rendered excellent music at both services. ## CONTROL OF SAN JOSE SCALE

Prof. Caesar Strongly Recommends Oil Spray to Town-ship Fruit Farmers Meeting Held Saturday

A meeting of the fruit growers of the township of North Grimsby was held in the council chambers, Grimsby, on Saturday afternoon for the purpose of discussing the proper spraying of fruit trees affected by the San Jose Scale, apple growers having been particularly invited.

Deputy Reeve Mitchell who presided said there had been dissatisfaction regarding the results secured from spraying and it was desired to secure information as to how best to combat the San Jose Scale which infects the fruit trees.

Mr. T. R. Hunter, fruit Pest Inspector, said he had found scale in practically all orchards but there was no scale on peach trees. Both oil and lime and sulphur had been used in spraying. The trees appeared to be free of everything but scale.

Prof. Caesar of the Dept. of Agriculture, who spoke at some length, commended the North Grimsby council on the initiative taken in calling the meeting indicating their interest in the matter.

Prof. Caesar said that the San Jose Scale had been found for the first time in 1894 or 1895, nearly 40 years ago and had been more or less prevalent up to the years 1917-1918. The winter of 1917-1918 was the severest in fifty years and the cold weather had the effect of cleaning up the San Jose Scale. "The next year was a cold and wet one and the cold season kept it down a while lots of parasites attacked them. Owing to the absence of the pest, the people from 1918 to 1925 felt they didn't need to spray, and most of them ceased spraying or were not inclined to do it thoroughly, a lot of growers stating they had no scale. When the scale went down the parasites also disappeared.

In recent years with mild weather and absence of spraying the scale again began to make its appearance and in the years 1930 and 1931 the weather was remarkably favorable for scale. There was a hot summer in 1931 and a warm open fall and the scale continued breeding rapidly. The scale insect was a prolific producer, increasing very fast.

There were prospects that we would have a fairly mild winter and we were likely to have a bad attack of scale which originally came from China, being an imported insect. It tended to become less virulent and he did (Continued on page 4)

Unshaken Faith in Future Of Canada Expressed at Royal Bank Annual Meeting

"I have witnessed many depressions during the last fifty years and I can see nothing in this one which weakens my faith in this country."—Sir Herbert Holt, President.

"While I do not wish to voice any prediction as to the date of business recovery, it will be very disappointing if an improvement does not take place in 1932."—M. W. Wilson, Vice-President and General Manager.

At the annual meeting of The Royal Bank of Canada held at the Head Office in Montreal, both the President, Sir Herbert Holt, and the Vice-President and General Manager, Mr. M. W. Wilson, were emphatic in their expressions of unqualified confidence in Canada. Sir Herbert Holt's mature and world-wide business experience is reflected in his statement, "I have witnessed many depressions during the course of the last fifty years and I see nothing in this one which weakens my faith in this country." The tone of both addresses was one of quiet optimism, exemplified by Mr. Wilson's remark, "While I do not wish to voice any prediction as to the date of business recovery, it will be very disappointing if an improvement does not take place during 1932. The leaders of politics and finance in the principal countries are capable of bringing this about and the indictment against any who block the way will be severe indeed." The President pointed out that with the aid of most securities well under their intrinsic worth, improvement could be expected as and when measures were taken which would result in a real return of confidence in the United States. Earlier in his remarks he had referred to the splendid record of the Canadian banking system during a time when disorganization in finance was accentuating the depression in many other countries. He expressed the opinion that the relatively satisfactory position of Canada could be attributed in a small degree to the stability of our banking organization and the way in which industry had been supported.

Before moving the "doxology" of the report Sir Herbert referred with profound regret to the death of Mr. Neil, after a lifetime spent in the service of the bank. "In his passing the bank has lost a wise counsellor, his associates a loyal friend, and Canada an eminent banker and distinguished citizen."

After dealing briefly with the situation in agriculture and the principal manufacturing industries, Sir Herbert referred to the plans which are under way for a consolidation of the principal newspaper companies in Eastern Canada, and expressed the opinion that the development though difficult of accomplishment was a constructive one and highly desirable if Canada was to continue to maintain the supremacy to which she is entitled by reason of her natural advantages.

Railways
The appointment of a railway commission was mentioned with approval and the belief expressed that such a commission should be capable of bringing in recommendations which would in large measure solve the present very serious situation caused by uneconomic competition and duplication of services. The President stated "Savings to the country of from $60,750,000 a year are possible and this without impairment of service to the public."

Imperial Conference
Pointing out that as long as other nations raise intolerable tariff barriers against British Empire goods it is necessary that the different parts of the Empire should protect themselves by concerted action, he expressed hope in the results of the Imperial Conference to be held in Ottawa, provided careful analysis and close study produced a scientific tariff structure which would stimulate reciprocal Empire trade without handicapping home industry.

Public Finance
The success of the National Service Loan was referred to as a notable achievement. He stressed the fact that both internal and external revenue had been reduced by the decline in the activity of trade and that excessive expenditures by government and municipalities had increased the burden of interest payments on the people. "There never was a time in our history when it was so necessary to avoid extravagance of every kind, and governments, Federal, Provincial and Municipal, should follow the splendid example set by the British National Government in reducing the cost of administration and balancing their budget."

Closing his remarks Sir Herbert said in part: "It has been said that it is darkest just before the dawn, and in previous depressions conditions have seemed most discouraging at a time when improvement had already set in. The violence of the depression must of itself tend to produce a strong reaction. It may well be that the gold countries are now on the verge of a rise in the price level. With a sound and strongly integrated banking system, no important investments in depreciated securities of foreign governments, an industrious and virtuous people who have maintained their morale unimpaired, and with a system of government permitting prompt and decisive action, Canada is in a relatively satisfactory position and we are justified in looking to the future with confidence."

General Manager's Address
Mr. M. W. Wilson, Vice-President and General Manager, stated that maintenance of the Bank's assets at a figure as high as $25,000,000 reflected not only the conservation of existing business but also the acquisition of new and desirable connections. He referred to the substantial over-subscription of the Dominion of Canada National Service Loan as an achievement of which our government and Canadian people generally may well be proud. Strong Liquid Position Maintained
The liquid position of the bank was maintained at substantially the same ratio as a year ago, quickly realizable assets being more than 85% of liabilities to the public. In referring to the enviable record of the Canadian banking system during the period of world depression, Mr. Wilson said: "Once again the ability of the Canadian banking system to take care of the needs of the country has been clearly demonstrated. The type of organization under which they operate enables our banks to take a broad view of the transactions that come before them and I think it will be admitted that the disposition has been to deal with problems in a sympathetic and constructive manner."

Business in Other Countries
"Entirely satisfactory," were the words used in describing the bank's experience during the last year in the foreign countries where it operates.

Mr. Wilson pointed out that the Bank's foreign branches have never been allowed to expose themselves to risk of loss through exchange fluctuations and as a result their experience during the last year had been entirely satisfactory.

Commodity Levels
The General Manager expressed the opinion that the restoration of commodity price levels to the basis of 1924-1925 was essential to a really satisfactory recovery in world business. He made favourable reference to the anti-deflation measures now being considered by the United States Congress and felt that they justified the hope that corrective forces would soon be at work in that country.

Business Psychology
"As the depression continues the factor of business psychology is one of constantly increasing importance," Mr. Wilson declared. Dis-trust and lack of confidence are largely responsible for the extremes to which world business has gone. He indicated that we in Canada have been particularly fortunate in this respect and said, "Confidence in our country and in our ability to solve the problems that present themselves is above the average and in my opinion is amply justified by our best record and future prospects."

Lack of international confidence was the main obstacle in the way to world-wide business recovery. Mr. Wilson went on to express the opinion that confidence could be restored by co-operation between the leaders of politics and finance in the principal countries. Signs are not lacking that progress may be made along these lines and this formed the basis for his statement, "While I do not wish to venture any prediction as to the date of business recovery, it will be very disappointing if an improvement does not take place in 1932."

Mr. Wilson pointed out in vigorous terms that we must not get into the frame of mind in which we think of losses as pertaining to all business activities. The majority are holding their own, he declared, and while reduced earnings for the time being may be inevitable, we should be gratified that in this period of transition a great majority of our Canadian concerns are more than covering operating expenses and our agricultural population is staying on the land and maintaining the acreage under cultivation. Closing on a note of optimism, Mr. Wilson said, "There are signs of stabilization in a number of directions, our physical assets are being kept intact and, with reasonable economy and hard work, we shall find that Canada will be one of the first countries to feel the good results of business recovery."

Reminiscences

Circumstances alter cases, as that when Hamlin Garland, in his younger days, found himself a father with a daughter to consider and a success of novel well launched, he was not inclined to learn he copied the days of "controversial writing" at an end. "As a householder, I was in league with the capitalistic forces of society," he says in "Companions on the Trail."

"Like the Irish reformer, I found myself changed. 'Pat,' said the Judge, 'if you had $200,000, would you give away half?' 'I would that.' 'If you had ten horses, would you give away five of them?' 'Sure I would.' 'If you had two goals, would you give away one of them?' 'I would NOT—I have two goals.'"

Which recalls a story about that fine old crusty Socialist, George Bernard Shaw, who at the close of an address on his pet doctrine one evening, invited questions from the audience.

"Don't you think that no individual should be allowed to retain an income of more than one thousand pounds (then about $5,000) a year?" asked a sympathizer. "Good gracious, no," replied Shaw. "Why, I have more than that myself." "I'll say he has."

A sidelight on the difference between modern conditions at sea and those of the old windjammer days is reflected in a story told by Sir Arthur Rastrom, Commodore of the Conard fleet until his recent retirement. The "Mauretania" on the trip was bringing over some poisonous snakes in charge of a keeper who managed to get himself bitten by one. The ship's surgeon attended him and did what he thought best. But as a precaution, a wireless message was sent to the curator of the New York Zoo, explaining the position, the species of the snake, and the treatment that had so far been applied.

"And," says Captain Rastrom (in "Home From the Sea"), "we received 1,200 miles from land, that curator's answer, 'Your treatment correct,' within seven minutes of sending out the request!"

Talk About Luck

"On one passage of the 'Mauretania' to America," yawns Captain Rastrom, "there sat at my table an Englishwoman. I didn't even know she was going in for the sweep (on the day's run). However, she went up and obtained a ticket. That number won. The next night she bid for and obtained another number, and again it was successful. Rare enough to win twice, but let on the third night her number won again."

"The thing was looking a bit uncanny, but on the fourth night surprise gave way in a few minutes to suspicion when this lady's number again was the correct one."

"I object," cried out one man. "This lady is sitting at the Captain's table." "Not only an objectionable but a stupid remark," explains the skipper, "for in the Atlantic we get such quick changes of weather it is impossible to forecast the sun, and the captain and officers do so, know any better than these who are gambling on it. Other travellers, of course, realize that and on this occasion the objector was instantly squashed."

But, would you believe it, such was the lady's run of luck, that on the fifth night, again she won!

"I dare say she cleared nearly a thousand pounds (about $5,000) then on the trip," says Captain Rastrom, but before leaving the ship, she gave away all her winnings in very generous tips and donations to the sailors' charities.

"The same lady crossed back, I was told, on the 'Aquitania' and she lost every night," adds the captain.

The fiction editor of a famous newspaper organization told this story: Among his contributors was a woman who, for years, had made a good income by writing popular serials. Her stories were of the sensational type with a dash of the risqué thrown in as spice. She had been left a widow with three young children to provide for and her only asset was a gift for turning out "thrillers."

At this she proved most successful and was able to give her children a nice home, a good education, followed by desirable marriages for her two daughters. The youngest of the three children—a boy—was attending a fashionable boarding school. There a copy of one of his mother's books was found in his room. He was asked how and where he got it. The boy refused to disclose that his mother—who wrote under a pseudonym—was the author. And so he was well flogged for having it in his possession.

The married daughters learned of the incident, and, at family council it was unanimously decided by them that "mother must stop writing this kind of tripe." As mother could do no other profitable work she was at her wits' end to know what to do. The boy still had to be paid before being sent out into the world to say nothing of her own future. It was at this stage that she called upon a friend, the fiction editor, who had years bought all her stories.

What was she to do?

The quaint circumstances under which the late Earl of Warwick once received a tip from an American tourist, are related by Lady Warwick in her memoirs, "Discretions." Her husband, she says, was out early one morning at Warwick Castle examining some favorite flower, when the American approached him, saying that he wished to cross the river Avon.

"Just work the ferry for me, there's a good fellow," said the stranger. Lord Warwick was amused, and not wanting to embarrass the man, said nothing and did as he was asked.

In about half an hour, the American again hailed him, this time from the opposite bank. "Look sharp," he cried, "I want to get back."

After Lord Warwick had brought the ferry back, the man thanked him and said: "It's a fine place. Been here long?"

Afraid that his voice would betray him, Lord Warwick mumbled that he had been there for some years. "Well," said the stranger, "you're a civil chap, so here's something for you," and pressing half a sovereign into the peer's hand, he departed.

"Lord Warwick used to wear the coin on his watch chain," adds Lady Warwick, "and often decried that he had never earned money so easily."

Buckingham Palace

Buckingham Palace stands alone as the embodiment of the present living monarchy. It is true that King Edward VII died (as, indeed, he was born) there; but otherwise the Palace is associated entirely with the lives of our sovereigns and their work. It is, so to speak, a living centre of emotion rather than in any way a monument of tradition.

To children it is the immense and mysterious house guarded by red-coated sentries of almost inhuman magnificence and solidity; it is also the place where on occasion the King appears in full glory of regal raiment in a gold coach, and where on many days the band plays and the guard is changed.

To the society debutante it is the scene of the delightful trepidation of presentation at Court. To recipients of honours it recalls the pleasing ceremonies of investiture. To many thousands it conjures up visions of royal garden parties in July. To the more select few it stands for state dinners and state balls. To ministers it must remain the place of receiving the seals of office, and of delivering them up again.

To us all it is the centre of irrefragable attraction at times of national emotion which we wish to share with our Sovereign, whether it be anxiety, like the night of August 4th, 1914 (and, indeed, during the King's illness in 1925), or joy and relief, such as we experienced on Armistice Day, or simply the national holiday feeling of festive occasions such as royal marriages.

The republican, the crank, the anarchist, the revolutionary, may pour out his frothy torrent in Hyde Park or on Tower Hill, but when we are really moved, when we wish to express our truest feelings, we go neither to Hyde Park nor to Tower Hill, we leave our own (or our children's) own opinions on our Kievs, and that old is made at Buckingham Palace. Great is our rejoicing when he and his family show themselves on the centre balcony facing the Queen Victoria Memorial. At such times we feel the throbbing of the true heart of London.

Lieut.-Col. John Murray, D.S.O., in "The Quarterly Review."

A BATTLE OF THE ELEMENTS AT GRAND CANYON

FORTUNATE, indeed, the traveler who stood beside the camera man as he caught this dramatic winter battle of the elements in the Grand Canyon of Arizona.

For weeks on end, in midwinter, the Grand Canyon glows under brilliant sunshine and blue sky. But when snow does come to the Canyon rims, as it must do at any elevation of 7,000 feet in this latitude, then the visitor may witness incredible scenes like this.

Travel is continuous throughout the year to the South rim of the Grand Canyon, but Winter seals the North rim which is 1200 feet higher, for months on end. Through Pullmans over the Santa Fe Railway approach within 100 yards of the Canyon edge, South rim, and it is but a step to the informal comfort and crackling fireplaces of El Tovar hotel. Snow, when it comes, may lie thick in the pine forest, but it rarely interrupts the motor drives along the rim roads, and not often even the thrilling saddle trips down the inner-Canyon trails. As one rides down and down, the snow thins out and gradually disappears. Imperceptibly one passes from the crisp cold of the upper world to the hints of spring at Phantom Ranch, 6,000 feet below.

The Grand Canyon is one of the most glowing jewels in Uncle Sam's famous chain of national parks.

Ancient Wall is Excavated

Berlin.—Scholars of the advanced classes of the high school in Pankow, a part on greater Berlin, took advantage of their autumn vacation to excavate an ancient wall in Berlin-Blankenfelde.

The wall dates from the so-called Lusitanian period, 1500 to 1000 B.C. The excavations were conducted under direction of Dr. Kieckhefer of the Brandenburg Provincial Museum.

When You CAN'T QUIT

Fatigue is the signal to rest. Obey it if you can. When you can't, keep cool and carry-on in comfort. Aspirin was meant for just such times, for it insures your comfort. Freedom from those pains that nag at nerves and wear you down. One tablet will block that threatening headache while it is still just a threat. Take two or three tablets when you've caught a cold, and that's usually the end of it.

Carry Aspirin tablets when you travel. Have some at home and keep some at the office. Like an efficient secretary, they will often "save the day" and spare you many uncomfortable, unproductive hours. Aspirin is harmless, so keep it handy, keep it in mind, and use it. No man of affairs can afford to ignore the scores and more of uses explained in the proven directions. From a grumbling tooth to those rheumatic pains which seem almost to bend the bones, Aspirin tablets are ready with quick relief—and always work. Neuritis, Neuralgia. Any nagging, needless pain.

Get the genuine tablets, stamped with the Bayer cross. They are of perfect purity, absolute, and have the same action. Why experiment with imitations costing a few cents less? The saving is too little. It is too much at stake. But there is economy in the purchase of genuine Aspirin tablets in the large bottles.

Industrial Outlook In Western Canada

By John F. Sweeting, Industrial Commissioner, Western Lines, Canadian Pacific Railway.

With the New Year's promise of better times comes the realization that in trade expansion—the place of this Dominion will, as always, be in alignment with the well-being of the British Commonwealth of Nations. Because of this, and the ability of the Canadian people, continuous progress is assured.

Construction has already commenced on some of the important Western projects, while others will be undertaken in the early spring, such as the gas and coke plant at Fort William; the auditorium and Salter Street bridge at Winnipeg; the building of 30 miles of water mains at Regina; the new bridge across the South Saskatchewan River at Saskatoon; the possible water line from the South Saskatchewan River to Moose Jaw and other points. Development of the Big Bend power on the North Saskatchewan River east of Prince Albert is being given careful consideration, as also the completion of the new water supply for the city of Calgary; the proposed investigation of possible power development on the Athabasca River, north-west of Edmonton; the construction of a traffic bridge over the Fraser River near New Westminster; the large water supply project for the city of Vancouver, which entails the laying of water mains under Burrard Inlet, and the further investigation into the power proposals at Campbell River, Vancouver Island. These and other matters under consideration would show that at the beginning of 1932 there is some reasonable justification for looking forward to another active year of construction work.

Upbuilding

Agricultural programmes are all for expansion, and some interesting work is being done in conjunction with various associations in building up districts in all parts of the West. An organization operating at Lethbridge with the sole purpose of increasing all classes of crops and livestock and in the development of industries that will bring about the production and marketing of such products. Similar developments are in progress in all the Prairie Provinces and in the various sections of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, as the climate and the land tend to create the best results for certain well defined agricultural activities. Never was greater attention given to the necessity for the production of better grade articles and economy in manufacturing than at the present time. Every phase of agricultural work is on the upgrade and a successful outcome to this industry is anticipated.

Expansion in the mining industry is possibly dependent to a great extent on metal prices and, therefore, it is difficult to say what programme can be outlined for the present year. Exploration work, without unduly continue, as great interest is taken in the prairie mineral belt, which so far has had only very cursory examination. In British Columbia the situation is, of course, continuously progressive, and there is little doubt but that progress will go on as has been the case for so many years. There is hope that the situation will materially improve by the close of the winter months.

General business throughout the Christmas season was of good volume; and, although there should be some slowing down after the holidays, people are buying, thus assisting in the return to a more normal trading condition. Altogether the Western situation is holding its own and anticipating steady improvement.

Finds Infected Mice Live Longer if Kept on Move

Miss Katherine Watson, graduate student of New York University, who for the last seven weeks has been experimenting with 150 pedigreed mice, announced recently that the results of her experiment indicated that increased activity on the part of a rodent gave it greater resistance to infection. Although only six of the mice are still alive Miss Watson believes that those which were kept active after the injection of pneumococcus germs resisted pneumonia better than those which were sedentary.

Miss Watson is not ready to apply any of the results of her experiment to human beings, but she would "like it very much if some doctor would try a similar experiment with human beings in the resistance to colds."

The experiment will not be tried again, said Miss Watson, who will become a teacher of physical education after she receives her doctor's degree. She said she had become fond of the mice, one of which she had planned to save as a pet, but which died after being inoculated by mistake.

Goodness of education is to be tested by the capacity for using knowledge by the extent to which the

Tramcar Post May Be Abolished in Stockholm

Stockholm.—On account of the increasing traffic in Stockholm the tram lines may be moved away from the center of the town and be exchanged for buses. If this is done they will be missed by all those who use them for posting their letters, writes a correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor. All the tramcars have attached to the back a letter box, which is put on at five o'clock in the morning and taken off at eight in the evening. In places where many tram lines pass there is a post-office employee standing, who empties all the boxes every time the tram passes and puts them in a letter box on a tramcar that passes the General Post Office. Here another employee stands and empties the boxes and puts the letters into a chute in the post office, which carries them up to the clearing room. This is a quick and reliable service and the letters very often reach their destinations earlier than if posted in an ordinary letter box.

Hope makes a man live, but does not nourish him.—Comerson.

The condition of William Jackson, severely burned nearly two months ago when he came in contact with a wire thrown over a high tension power line near Jordan, remains critical. A few days ago he was given a blood transfusion, with city fireman Fred Boynton, of St. Catharines, supplying the blood, and later his arm was amputated. One leg has also been amputated and also three toes off the other foot.

Prof. Cieslar said he did not think it wise to spray trees at this time of the year. We may have cold weather and damage may be done. He preferred a gun in winter spray on trees.

Province of Ontario Loan Announced for $25,000,000

Large Group of Security Houses insures Widest Possible Distribution
for the Issue—Fifteen-Year Bonds
Obtainable in Denominations as Low as $500.

The Provincial Treasurer of Ontario has made arrangements with a comprehensive group of security dealers and several banks for the raising of $25,000,000. Of this offering $20,000,000 is being issued in the form of 15-year debentures while the balance of the issue will run for a period of 3 years. This choice of maturity will, it is anticipated, meet the varying requirements of investors.

The 15-year bonds are being offered to yield 5.90% while the smaller amount of 3-year debentures is being offered to yield 6%.

This offering has been looked forward to with a considerable degree of interest since the statement made by Premier Henry two or three weeks ago with regard to prospective financing by the Province.

Since the turn of the year two important financial operations have been carried out successfully. During the first week in January the Province of New Brunswick sold $5,062,000 of debentures which were issued to refund certain maturing obligations and to cover the cost of constructing roads and public buildings. The New Brunswick issue was followed by one to raise $15,000,000 for the City of Montreal. The Montreal bonds were issued to yield 6% and met with a satisfactory reception when offered last Tuesday. The City of Montreal needed the money partly for defraying the cost of construction of certain important public works, part of such works being for the relief of unemployment.

This financing by the Province of Ontario represents the third important piece of financing since the turn of the year. These three pieces of financing represent the first issues to be made by important public bodies since the early summer of 1931 with the exception of the National Service Loan which was brought out in the closing months of the year.

The satisfactory reception accorded the issues of New Brunswick and the City of Montreal doubtless influenced the Government's decision to market its bonds at this time.

Security dealers in Ontario anticipate a large volume of enquiries from within the Province for the loan as at the time of the offering of the New Brunswick and Montreal issues it was found that quite a number of investors stated that they were waiting for the issue to be made by their own Province as announced by the Prime Minister several weeks ago.

Prior to the War, the Province was a borrower in the London market, the high general level for securities at that time enabling the Province to borrow at a very low rate of interest. In March, 1906, the Province issued $1,200,000, or approximately $6,000,000, 3% Registered Stock at a price of $98.50, and subsequently put out 4% Registered Stock at a premium in varying amounts during the years 1909, 1911, 1912, and 1913 to a total of approximately $7,000,000. Due to the War, conditions arising therefrom that market has been temporarily closed to the Province for new issues but issues made in London and still outstanding have a wide popularity with British investors.

During the unsettled period, 1920 to 1923, the Province made several internal issues carrying a 6% coupon. With the return of settled conditions the issues made at that time have since sold at a substantial premium and the Province subsequently made several issues with a coupon as low as 4%.

During the period since the War the American market has readily absorbed issues made in that market. The credit of the Province has ranked so favourably in New York that its bonds during the past decade have commanded unusually high prices. The important reason, probably, for the favorable credit position of the Province is the fact that such a large proportion of the wealth and population of the entire Dominion is centred in Ontario. Approximately one-third of the population and substantially more than one-third of the wealth of the Dominion is according to recent estimates, centred in this Province.

Case Involving Shooting Captive Pigeons From Traps Is Dismissed

Magistrate Campbell in weekly police court last week at Beamsville dismissed the charges against Thomas Wilcox and eleven others charged with shooting captive pigeons from traps on Saturday, January 9, charges were laid by County Humane Inspector Fawell against Wilcox for allowing the shooting to be held on his farm in South Grimsby township and the eleven other men for being on the premises. J. D. Book, one of the persons, promptly pleaded not guilty. The Inspector called, produced several box traps with long cord pulls attached, six dead birds and seven live ones, brought away from the premises. Merton Seymour for the defendants, questioned the Inspector briefly as to which of the men had guns and who had fired shots. The Inspector had only heard shots fired from a distance, but had seen some of those present throwing sticks at a bird that was walking in front of one of the traps to induce it to fly. The traps were set from thirty to forty yards in front of the men. County Constable Seymour agreed with Fawell's evidence. Thomas Wilcox denied allowing his property to be used for the shoot.

"Here is where a lawyer would be useful to you," said the magistrate to the Inspector. "There is no evidence that the farm belonged to T. Wilcox, nor that any one of the men there had a gun, nor did you see any birds shot. I think," he continued, "that all of these things could be very readily proved. There is no doubt in my mind a pigeon shoot was held and the boxes here were used as traps."

Looking up the act, the magistrate explained to the crowded court that there is a fine of five hundred dollars applicable to such cases, or in lieu a year in jail.

Would Eliminate Hucksters from Market

A deputation of R. St. Plamondon and others last week conferred with H. Glover and R. H. F. of the West and worth county market committee and requested that hucksters be eliminated entirely from the market.

Mr. Emery stated that he was in favor of the elimination of hucksters. Mr. Glover favored requiring that about 50 per cent. of the load be grown by dealers themselves and that they be allowed to buy and sell the remaining proportion.

Many Pay Tribute

The general regard in which he was held and the deep sense of loss occasioned by his passing was evidenced by the numerous messages received by the family from former associates in newspaper work and other friends in all parts of the Dominion who by wire and mail paid high tribute to the late Mr. Taylor, both as an outstanding publisher and public spirited citizen, while appreciation was also voiced of his personal qualities.

Underwent Operation

Believed to be making progress towards recovery after a serious chest operation on Friday, January 15th the late Mr. Taylor took a turn for the worse the following Tuesday, passing away about nine o'clock in the evening.
The operation to which he submitted was necessitated by a chest infection traceable to a fall suffered nearly three years ago, and which caused trouble intermittently ever since. It was successful in immediate results but on Tuesday it was found that diffused pneumonia had developed which terminated fatally.

No Change of Policy

The Sentinel Review Saturday published the following statement: "Publication of this newspaper will be continued by the Sentinel Review Company, Limited, under the present management and direction of the executives of the late W. J. Taylor. No change of policy is involved and the Sentinel Review will endeavor as before to give to its constituency the fullest possible service. There is, therefore, nothing new to announce respecting the relations of the newspaper and the public."

WITH THE LONE SCOUTS

Thrill in March Means Camp in July
Have you thought of that, Lones?
This year we intend to make a big effort to have another Lone Scout Camp, such as we held in 1929 and 1930. Do you remember all the good times we had together? The hikes and games, the swimming pool and the camp fire, the treasure hunts and sports, work and play?

Of course you will want to join in this fun all over again!
Then remember that NOW is the time to commence to save those nickels to pay your camp fee and to make it possible for you to be with us. Start a camp fund right away!

No better illustration of the value of the Scout Movement is needed than the incident which took place recently in a small Ontario town.

An accident occurred when an automobile collided with a railway train and a man was seriously hurt. On being summoned to the scene of the accident the doctor decided that the man must be conveyed by ambulance, at once, to the hospital. On enquiring from the onlookers where he might find the nearest "phone, a little chap spoke up: "I know, sir, I'll go. What message?" He received instructions from the doctor and was off. Shortly he was back, out of breath. "The ambulance will be right over," he said.

The doctor turned to reward him for prompt execution of the errand. "Oh no, sir," said the lad, "I'm a Boy Scout and I mustn't take anything!" "But I must pay for the phone call, at least," said the doctor. "Well, I guess that will be alright," said the little fellow.

In that incident is illustrated the Boy Scout Spirit.

It is far from the truth for anyone to state that this movement encourages militarism. For Boy Scouts are taught to perform at least one good turn every day and are trained to be amenable to discipline, to fear God, to honor the King and to love their native land.

They are taught the useful art of woodcraft, are given instruction in swimming and, in short, receive a training that fits them to be good men and citizens.

Surely such a movement deserves the unqualified support of every person who realizes that the boys of today are the men of tomorrow and that training such as Boy Scouts receive will make for a finer and higher standard of citizenship.

Boys
In recent articles we have talked about our friends, the birds, and of our duty, as Scouts towards them. Have you ever stopped to think how valuable an ally man has in the birds?

Birds help feed us. Birds help save our money. Birds help make life more beautiful. Birds furnish us with splendid examples of faith, charity and forgiveness. Birds give us pleasure. Birds are our friends and "though we slay them yet do they treat us."

In our wild scramble to become civilized and less like real men we have too often ruined the world into which we were born. We have polluted the fragrant air, thus robbing our lungs. We have hacked down our forests, slain our wild animals. Vanished are many of our friends through our selfishness or greed or ignorance.

While this has proceeded, slowly and steadily our enemies have crept upon us in constantly augmented numbers. These enemies are tiny pests which man is ill adapted to fight. Insects are the pests which we have unwittingly aided and which now destroy our very livelihood. The city dweller little appreciates the ravages of these destroyers, but if he could realize the loss of fruits, grain, lumber, and the necessary increase in prices and decrease in quality there are few who would not help secure some means of destroying insects.

Spraying and all the artificial means of controlling these destroyers are as expensive as inadequate. Nature's balance has been upset and man must help restore it. Birds are the natural enemies of insects. They are the balance weight against the harmful insects. We must help increase bird life by conserving their homes feeding them educating the public and studying their habits to help supply what we have taken away.

One of the best ways of protecting the birds is by building bird houses, for man has taken many of the natural homes of the birds away. Build them, put them up and wait. Unlike human beings, the birds like seasoned homes, they dislike bright paint, etc., so perhaps you'll have to wait some time. Give the bird a chance. While there are Scouts the birds should not want for homes. There should always be some houses for rent.

If you would like to be a Lone Scout, write to The Lone Scout Department, 239 Bay Street, Toronto 2, for particulars. This branch of the Boy Scouts Association is open to boys between 12 and 18 years of age who are unable to join a regular Scout Troop. Information will be gladly sent.—Lone R.

Blizzard Traps Hunting Party

One of Three Survives to Tell the Tale

St. John's, Nfld. — Snatched from death in an ice-coated boat just as he was lapsing into unconsciousness, Eugene Dalton revived Saturday to tell of the blizzard that swept the coast of Newfoundland and claimed the lives of his two companions on a hunting expedition.

Search parties sent out by the Department of Fisheries found the little craft anchored off Shag Rocks Saturday morning. In it were Eugene Dalton, worn out from exposure and barely alive, and the bodies of Mark Dalton and Levi Eddy.

The blizzard blew up without warning and trapped a number of other hunting parties which escaped to land after terrifying experiences. It was accompanied by severe frost, and thermometers registered 29 below zero.

Taking advantage of fine weather the three set out in their boat Friday afternoon. Suddenly the wind changed and blew in from the northwest with blinding snow. Not knowing whither they went, the three moved the boat until their strength was spent. Darkness shut down, and the temperature dropped. They saw Shag Rocks but were unable to land. The sea was smoother now, and they anchored under the rocks to await their fate.

There they sat, watching every possible motion to keep warm then looking at each other as ice formed around their boat. Levi Eddy was the first to succumb to the intense cold. Through the long hours of the night the two brothers awaited death, wondering which would be the next to go. About 4 o'clock Mark Dalton died. Alone now, except for two corpses, Eugene plied his physique against the steady falling temperature. He did not remember much after his brother died, and he was in a semi-conscious state when rescued by members of the fisheries department.

Canada's Gold Holdings in Excess of Demands

Ottawa.—Canada closed the calendar year with gold to the value of $60,990,148 held by the minister of finance, according to a recent report issued by the department of finance. This was $2,740,299 in excess of statutory requirements to protect the Dominion note circulation and Government savings bank deposits.

British Workers Share in Profits

London.—The sum distributed among its workers by the British woolen manufacturing firm of J. T. & J. Taylor, Ltd., which has long gone in for profit-sharing, has now reached a total of more than £1,000,000, despite recent trade conditions.

The system provides for distribution to workers, in the form of shares in the company, an agreed proportion of all profits after the first 5 per cent. The workers' shares are similar to those of the proprietors except that they do not possess any voice in the management.

"After 65 years of business, including 18 years in the House of Commons," says Mr. Theodore C. Taylor, founder of the concern, "I believe that general adoption of the plan of sharing profits with employees would do more for British industry and national prosperity than is possible by the actions of all the politicians put together."

May Barter Cotton in Exchange for Pork

London.—There is a probability that Bolton, one of Lancashire's spinning centers, may make a direct barter of yarn for bacon.

This has come about through the Hungarian war debts situation, which made payment in currency impossible. The Hungarian weavers association is idle for lack of Bolton yarn, Bolton weavers on the other hand, are idle for need of markets. But the Hungarian weavers can supply pork which their representative in Lancashire is pressing the Bolton merchants to accept. A payment. The matter is now before the Manchester wholesale co-operative society which is trying to put through a $50,000 deal.

Britain Sees It Through

Regina Star: (The number of unemployed in Great Britain has decreased by 400,000 since October.) No wonder there is a returning feeling of confidence and a revival of the hope that conditions are mending in Great Britain. Nor is it surprising that the expectation of still further progress after the Ottawa Economic Conference is growing among the British people. Now that they have their coats off and their shoulders to the wheel, they mean to "see it through," said, after all, work and hope are the two strongest incentives to progress, and the surest factors to promote the return to better things.

British Trade Greatly Improved

Shown by Considerable Decrease in Number of Unemployed

London.—A "real improvement" in the unemployment situation in Great Britain was announced last week by the Ministry of Labor as reflected in 74 out of 101 industry groups analyzed.

During the first three weeks in December, the ministry said, the total number of jobless on the registers of unemployment exchanges decreased 112,000—from 2,622,000 to 2,510,000. Of the total reduction some 35,000 was due to changes in requirements for the dole and the balance represented men restored to jobs.

Employment in the coal mining industry improved in every district during these dates. Of the wholly unemployed 10,521 were absorbed into the cotton industry, while there was little change in the number of those temporarily jobless.

Engineering, dock workers, tailoring and hotel trades also showed an improvement.

Britain Reduces Credits to Russia

London.—A significant reduction in the period of credit allowed for exports to Russia under the Trade Facilities Act has come about since the National Government came into power according to the Christian Science Monitor.

For some time it has been customary to allow 24 months' credit from date of order on exports of heavy machinery and equipment. This has now been reduced to 12 months.

Canadian Delegates Leave For Geneva

EXAMPLE TO NATIONS

Sir George Perley in Parting Message Cites Dominion and U. S.

New York.—Citing Canada and the United States as examples of how neighboring nations should get along, the Canadian delegation to the world disarmament conference at Geneva sailed early Saturday aboard the liner Europa.

The delegates were Sir George Perley, Minister Without Portfolio, and Hon. Maurice Dupre, Solicitor-General. Lady Perley and Mme. Dupre accompanied them.

Also in the party were Miss M. Winifred Kydd, president of the National Council of Women in Canada; Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, chief of the general staff, Department of National Defence and L. B. Pearson, first secretary in the Department of External Affairs.

Sir George, speaking for the delegation said:

"We in Canada are anxious, indeed, to see serious steps taken toward disarmament. The Canadians are much in earnest on this point. A few days ago a petition favoring disarmament containing 45,000 signatures was presented to the Prime Minister by the Canadian League of Nations Society and the Canadian branch of the International Peace Society.

"This fact demonstrates the feeling of the Canadian men and women on this subject. We of Canada have had concrete illustration for more than 100 years of how two neighbors can get along without fortifications of any kind. We believe the success of the arrangement should lead other nations to reduce armaments and rely on arbitration and friendly negotiation for the settlement of all disputes.

We go to Geneva with this hope in mind, and will do our best to bring this about."

Scientist Killed By Own Chemicals in Cancer Research

Boston.—Dr. Eugene Chellis Glover, 39, who according to research associates at the city hospital was on the point of making an important discovery in cancer, died there, it became known over the week-end, after being overcome while doing laboratory work.

Dr. Glover, less than four years out of Harvard Medical School, but already considered one of the leading cancer research specialists of the East, died from poison contracted in experiments.

News of his death, which occurred Saturday, was revealed by the report of Timothy P. Leary, medical examiner, who said that the doctor's system had been contaminated by chemicals he was using in his experiments.

Dr. Glover had been working with a solution containing cyanide just prior to his death, and a cyanide reaction was evident in the autopsy, Dr. Leary reported.

Dr. Leary expressed the opinion that Dr. Glover might have dropped a cyanide solution on his hand and, without realizing it, later brushed it across his mouth.

Dr. Glover recently told associates at the laboratory that he believed he had made an important discovery in the treatment of cancer by means of a new serum called lipoids, made from animal fats. His work had been rewarded with a medal from the Belgian Research Fellowship.

Dr. Glover was born in Gorham, Me., 29 years ago.

Injured Man in Arctic Treated By Wireless From Ottawa

Ottawa.—The short-wave wireless system connecting the office of Commander C. P. Edwards, director of the radio branch of the Department of Marine with its many stations in the Arctic, recently played a part in carrying succor to an injured seaman on a Grimsby trawler, operating in Davis Strait, between Greenland and Baffin Island.

The master of the trawler St. Keverne sent a wireless to the operator of the Department of Marine station at Resolute, asking for instructions in treating a man with half his scalp torn and fractured jaw, having been washed through a scupper door. The message was forwarded to the director of the radio branch here, and in an hour a message had been relayed back to the trawler skipper advising him what treatment to apply and referring him to the necessary pages in the medical manual carried by every vessel commander for such emergencies.

A later message from the trawler stated that the St. Keverne, heading for Reykjavik, Iceland, intended to land the injured man, whose name was not mentioned.

Dr. Eckener Wins Air Medal

Glasgow To Maintain Halfpenny Tram Rate

Glasgow.—Less than a cent, halfpenny, fares are to be retained here despite a general rise in tramcar and bus rates, the municipal transport authorities have decided. Twopenny street car fares now become 2½d, and the minimum bus fare is increased to 1½d.

It is stated that the object of increasing the short-distance fares is to divert short-distance travelers from the overcrowded buses to the tramcars. This, it is anticipated, will result in an acceleration of the bus services to the suburbs.

The questions of introducing season tickets and of permitting advertising on street cars are still under consideration.

"Prince of Wales Scholarship" To Help Argentines

London.—A scholarship has been established at Oxford for Argentine students, the Prince of Wales announced at a recent dinner of the Argentine Chamber of Commerce here. The award is to be known as the "Prince of Wales Scholarship."

For the next three years, at any rate, the Prince said, two students selected from the University of Buenos Aires are to come to Oxford for two years, receiving the same welcome as Rhodes scholars. The idea arose during the visit of British students to Argentina following the British expedition there last February. Arrangements for a return visit by students were then made.

Polish Population Shows Big Increase

Warsaw.—Poland's population is 31,977,773, the final count in the recent census shows. This represents an increase of 5,969,581 in the past 10 years.

What South Africa's Census Reveals

A recent census taken in the Union of South Africa indicates that the European population of the country is now 2,037,166, representing a gain of nearly 9 per cent. in the last five years. Of this total the Cape Province accounts for the largest number, 740,000, the Transvaal for 693,063, the Orange Free State for 265,324 and Natal for 177,424. The Transvaal is apparently the fastest growing area with a net gain of about 14 per cent.

There are 930,031 European males and 897,135 females in the country, or 33,000 more men than women, the Transvaal accounting for 19,000 of this difference. The urban population has increased in all provinces, only the Transvaal showing an increase in rural areas.

Johannesburg, the principal city of the Union and the centre of the gold-mining activity, has a European population of 205,544, an increase of 32,000 since the 1926 census and the largest reported. Cape Town's European population numbers 146,249, Durban's 86,296, Pretoria's 61,627, Port Elizabeth's 43,748, Bloemfontein's 23,361, and East London's 27,394.

No enumeration was made of the colored and native population of the Union, but the latter is estimated at about 6,127,000.

British Fishing Industry

The Montreal Star.—Mr. R. K. Law, son of the late Rt. Hon. Bonar Law, takes a special interest in the British fishing industry—he sits for a division of Hull, the great north-east seaport—and his address to the House dealt with the effect upon that industry of the recently imposed French duties. He brought out some very interesting facts.

The fishing industry in Britain employs directly some 60,000 men and 4 indirectly another 200,000 men and women. In the trawling branch alone the investment in ships and plant and shore represents some $70,000,000. The ships consume upward of four million tons of coal, the mining of which provides ten thousand miners with full time work for one year. The trawling industry spends $20,000,000 a year in wages. Indirectly also it provides employment for thousands of people in shipbuilding yards, steel works, transport works and other branches of industry.

French Imports and Exports Show Big Decrease

Paris.—France's trade balance for last year showed a deficit of $471,000,000. Compared with 1930, imports decreased $416,000,000 and exports decreased by nearly $500,000,000 in value, according to official figures published recently.

These figures show a decline value proportionately far greater than in tonnage both in exports and in imports. December was the most slack month of the year, with regard both to imports and to exports.

The only increase in the year's figures was in the amount and value of foodstuffs imported. Imports of other raw materials decreased 10 per cent. in tonnage and 25 per cent. in value. Imports of manufactured articles fell off 13 per cent. in tonnage.

The decline in the value of French exports was nearly 30 per cent. and slightly over 17 per cent. in tonnage.

Germany Uses "Compass" Signs To Aid Tourists

Berlin.—The German Automobile Club has decided to introduce a new system of road signs called "compass signs" throughout Germany by which every automobilist will be enabled to find his way throughout the country without maps.

Every sign directing the traveler to a certain city will be painted in the same color throughout the Reich. Signs leading to Berlin, for instance, will be painted red and white. Signs directing to Munich will be blue with white script. Those leading to Cologne and Aachen will be white and black letters. All signs leading to Basel will be green with white letters.

Empire Trade

Le Droit, Ottawa (Ind.): (Statistics show a distinct increase in Canadian trade with Great Britain.) There is an obvious indication here of a new tendency. It is not so much a question of a sudden change. The change is practically imperceptible, but clearly evident. With a fresh New Zealand treaty, and, above all, after the Imperial Conference, this tendency will become all the more marked with our ambition to turn our British Commonwealth of Nations into a "self-contained Empire."

Peru's Population Gains

Lima, Peru.—The population of Lima Province increased from 223,397 in 1929 to 273,500 in 1931, according to complete census figures announced recently. Callao Province increased from 22,558 in 1929 to 69,899 in 1931. The 1931 population of Peru was 3,127,773.

Girls sometimes wore cotton stockings and high, laced boots (you were not supposed to know it). Spectacles and eyeglasses were not common. People generally kept their tonics. It seemed necessary to control hatpins by legislation. Children were not taught to swim the fly.

Learn to attend strictly to your own business.

Learn to tell a story. A well-told story is as welcome as a sunbeam in a sick room.

Learn to avoid ill-natured remarks and everything likely to create friction.

Learn the art of saying kind and encouraging things.

Learn to keep your troubles to yourself. The world is too busy to care for your ills and sorrows.

Learn to hide your aches and pains under a pleasant smile.

Learn to stop grumbling. If you cannot see any good in the world, keep the bad to yourself.

The honeymoon is over when a husband realizes that his wife considers him compact her most valued possession. A Paradoxical Truth. A lot of the talkies are dumb. Happy indeed is the person who can obtain pleasure from the simpler things of life. Sometimes the quest of a daughter's hand leads to the bestowal of the father's foot. The reason we sometimes suspect that riches do bring happiness is that we are dead sure poverty does not. Constrain on Wall Street. Concentrate on Main Street. The woman a bachelor remembers most tenderly is the one who made him happy—by letting him slip through her fingers. Be careful when you set out to make somebody else the mark—you may turn out to be the mark. If it were not for man's faith in his fellow men there would be no such thing as the installment plan.

Who loses money, loses much; Who loses friends, loses more; Who loses hopes, loses all.

Say it with brevity—"When you've got a thing to say say it, don't take half a day; life is short, a fleeting vapor, don't fill the whole paper with a tale which, at a pinch, could be cornered in an inch. Boli her down until she simmers—polish her until she glimmers. When you've got a thing to say, say it, don't take half a day."

A minister went up to the library the other day and asked for "The Kentucky Cardinal." He demurred when the librarian began to look under "Religius."

"This cardinal was a bird," protested the minister.

"I'm not interested in his personal habits," said the librarian.

Bank Clerk—"So you wish to open a joint account with your husband. What kind?"

Mrs. Bright—"Oh, just a deposit account for him—checking for me."

Unique Hard Bean Grown in Australia

Adelaide, S. Aust.—An Australian bean stalk that comes near emulating that raised by Jack, growing only in the little known interior of Australia, is described by Mr. Cecil T. Madigan of Adelaide University, who recently returned from an exploration trip to the MacDonnell Ranges.

Mr. Madigan says that although he has traveled extensively in central Australia, he has only seen this bean in any numbers in the Fairway Hort. Ranges.

He described the beans as bright scarlet in color, and almost as hard as a date stone. A bean, he said, may be carried in the mouth all day without softening enough to bite it. The beans, he said, look so attractive lying on the ground that one cannot resist getting off the camel and picking some up. Another interesting characteristic of the tree is the extreme lightness of the wood.

How to play Bridge AUCTION and CONTRACT

by Wynne Ferguson

Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGES"

ARTICLE No. 7

Very frequently in Auction and Contract a player has a suit which is strong enough to take all the tricks but one, and the way or the time to lose that trick becomes a puzzling proposition. Whole books might be written on this subject, but there are a certain few situations that come up so frequently that they should be thoroughly analyzed and understood. As a general proposition, the trick to lose is the first one. Suppose the dealer has bid one no trump, you as second hand bid two hearts, third and fourth hands pass and the dealer bids two no trump; what should you lead with the following hand:

Hearts—A, Q, 10, 7, 6
Clubs—8, 5, 4, 3, 2
Diamonds—K, 7
Spades—10

The proper lead with this hand is the seven of hearts. The bidding indicates that the dealer has at least three hearts to the King or King Jack, so that if you lose the first trick and your partner later obtains the lead, a lead through the dealer's hand will enable you to win the balance of the heart tricks. Suppose, however, you decide to open the tray of clubs and your partner later obtains the lead. Even if he now leads the hearts to you, the declarer must still make a heart trick. In other words, one lead through the declarer's hand is not enough and the chances are that your partner will not obtain the lead more than once. If you must lose one trick in your suit, let it be the first and not the second or third.

Almost the same proposition confronts the declarer when he is playing a no trump hand. Suppose his dummy has a suit such as A, K, 7, 6, 2 or A, K, 7, 6, 5, 2, only two in his own hand and no re-entry. If he wants to establish this suit, he must lose the first trick and hope for the drop on the next two rounds. This method of playing such suits is called "ducking." Other tricks in the dummy where the first trick should be lost, if no re-entry, are A, Q, 10, 7, 6 or A, Q, 7, 6, 2. In the first case, finesse the ten of the suit on the first round and the queen on the second round. In the second case, make no effort to win the first trick. Your only hope to establish such a suit is to find three to the king on your left. Lose the first trick and finesse the queen on the second round. The same rule applies to a suit such as A, J, 10, 7, 6. Play the ten on the first round and finesse the jack on the second.

Still another angle comes up frequently. Suppose you are playing a no trump hand and hold only one stopper in your adversary's suit, for example, A, 4, 3 of clubs. With this type of suit, hold up your ace until the third round in the hope that your other adversary has more than three of the suit and cannot lead to his partner. Of course, there are many exceptions to this situation, but, as a general proposition, it's good policy to lose the first and second rounds of an adversary's suit if you have only one stopper.

There's still another angle. Suppose the opponent on your right has bid one no trump and your partner has obtained the lead and has deliberately led up to a K, J, 7 of clubs, for example, in dummy. Such a lead should tell you that after he loses the first trick he has all the tricks in that suit. If you can obtain the lead and come through. In other words, by losing the first trick he has placed himself in a position to win the rest of the tricks in that suit when you obtain the lead.

Much more could be written on this particular subject, but the readers of these articles will improve their game considerably by a study of the examples given. Learn to lose the first trick, if your suit is not set up, not the second or third.

Volcanoes and Gold

How study of volcanoes may help the world to find the new gold mines is suggested by remarks of Mr. H. A. Powers of the United States Geological Survey in a recent announcement by the Hawaiian Volcano Research Association of Honolulu. Many of the world's deposits of gold and other precious metals have been found, Mr. Powers states, in connection with the kinds of rock which volcanoes usually eject in the later stages of their lives, quite different from the rocks ejected in volcanic youth. The volcanoes of Hawaii, one of which is erupting, are still youthful and throw out the kinds of lava which harden into the black rock called basalt. If the Hawaiian volcanoes follow the usual rule, this basalt lava gradually will be replaced by kinds of lighter color, differing also in chemical composition, and hardening to rocks called trachytes. This is the usual history of volcanoes everywhere and all of the basaltic from "volcanoes" are of much the same chemical composition all over the earth. For some reason which geologists do not understand, it is the lighter colored lavas from older volcanoes which seem to be associated with valuable deposits of gold and other metals, probably brought up by the lavas from deep in the earth's crust. If geologists knew exactly why the volcanoes emit these different kinds of lava at different ages clues might be obtained about where to search for mineral deposits still unexplored or about how to make volcanoes old faster and disgorge their precious metals that much sooner.

BABY FRETFUL, RESTLESS?

Look to this cause

When your baby fusses, fusses and seems unable to sleep peacefully, look for one common cause, doctors say. Constipation. To rid quickly of the accumulated wastes which cause restlessness and discomfort, give a cleanser like Castoria. Castoria, you know, is made especially for children's delicate needs. It is a pure vegetable preparation; contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics. It is so mild and gentle you can give it to a young infant to relieve colic. Yet it is as effective for older children. Castoria's regulative help will bring relaxed comfort and restful sleep to your baby. Keep a bottle on hand. Genuine Castoria always has the name:

Retrenchment Is Necessary Municipally and Governmentally

Lieutenant-Colonel W. H. Price, Attorney-General for Ontario, in addressing a meeting of fifteen hundred business men in the city of Toronto, in the Royal York Hotel, enunciated the policy of the Ontario Government with reference to retrenchment in expenditure, and pointed out that retrenchment was necessary in Municipal Expenditures as well as Governmental Expenditures. He also stated that in the retrenchment being enacted by the Government, members of the Cabinet would reduce their salaries, while it was also suggested that the Legislative Members' indemnities be also reduced.

Colonel Price's speech came at a most opportune time, and he was warmly complimented, not only on his subject matter, but also on the clear, concise way in which he put his suggestions to his audience.

There are a few of the high-lights from Colonel Price's speech.

"The great prosperity in Canada and in Ontario during the past thirty years has spurred us all to evolve and create, explore and develop. Not only has it been so federally and provincially, it has run through the whole warp of our industrial achievements.

"While federally and provincially finances are in a sound position, where all interest payments and refunding calls have from time to time been met and will be kept on a proper basis, yet in a number of municipalities, especially those which have extended very rapidly, where the population has increased and so many improvements had to be made in a short period, difficulties have arisen often in collecting the taxes and in meeting the obligations.

"We are not asking the municipality to do something. If the Province is not willing to try. In other words we will not set an example. For some time past there has been a Committee of Council, composed of the Treasurer, Messrs. Finlayson, Macaulay and Price, going into the ordinary expenditure of the Province with the idea, if possible, of cutting $5,000,000 off our ordinary expenditure for 1932. The aim of this Committee has been to cut down expenditure so as to not throw men out of employment but at the same time retrench.

"The Government has had the approval of the Manufacturers' Association and the Boards of Trade generally speaking, the Press of the Province, are in favour of active and positive retrenchment, which means the cutting down of expenditure. I believe our Opposition in the House will favor action of this kind. It is not so much a political matter as a national matter which needs assiduous and continuous attention.

"The Government, however, are very much in earnest. If cuts are to be made they must be uniform. Almost every service must be taken into consideration. The salaries of the Government members and the heads of all Commissions will come within this category. There is nothing that the Government will ask any person or service, paid and maintained by the Province, to do that it is not prepared to do itself.

"We have waited to see whether there would be a more precipitate turn, but we have eventually come to the conclusion that it would be a very helpful thing for the Province as well as the municipalities to cut expenditures as far as they can and reduce taxation. The citizens themselves have for the past two years been retrenching and saving money; they must have saved up a very considerable amount of money, waiting, ready and anxious to go into new ventures and create new business, provided there is the necessary impetus. All Governments and municipalities too have felt that during this time it was impossible for them to make any reductions that might create more unemployment.

"The time, however, has been reached when, without interfering with the employment throughout the Province, without hurting business in any way, the average citizen should be made to feel that his sacrifice during the past two years, enabling him to save, should be rewarded. He must be able to go forward with confidence, feeling that there will be no further exactions on the part of the Government or Municipal authority. No new taxes.

"There has been a general call for retrenchment. The Province is retrenching. The Government calls on the public for co-operation, not for further demands for expenditure and criticism where cuts are made. We must have the utmost patriotic co-operation in order to achieve effective results.

Wild Geese at Night

(From Voices)

The night was cloudy and winds and rain. Fingers tried the window pane. The out-of-doors was wholly evil. One might believe still in the Devil. Mysterious and purposeless. The earth rocked with unholy stress.

Suddenly, clear over all, Came the reassuring call Of mariners whose only chart Is an aching, hungry heart. Whose only sails are grown so near Their blood beats in them all the year. The sailors with the necks so made That they can use them like a blade Were traveling without a light Chase and the lawless night.

And people hearing them returned To the slumber they had earned. It could not be there was no goal. No plan to pattern, not a soul. Sitting calm somewhere above With palms above some lamp of love. And planning new and keener things When these exquisite pairs of wings He had made so long and right Helped one another in their flight. —Robert P. Tristram Coffin.

Shelter

Here in the wood there is no snow— Only the faint, gray wash of wind. The crow's cry like the taste of bark: Here in the wood I go, Flecking the gentle flow Of pine waves breaking endlessly on air. With ticking of the twigs beneath my feet. Here in the brittle wood I go Sheltered from snow. —Christy MacKay, in "Wind in the Grass."

It is in man's nature to hate those whom he has offended.—Tacitus.

Veteran Railroader Gets Important Post

A railroad career that has seen many changes and covered much widely separated territory witnessed another movement in the transfer of Robert E. Larmour, general freight agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, from Montreal to Toronto, under announcement dated January 1st.

Mr. Larmour has enjoyed a very wide railway freight matters. Entering the Canadian Pacific Railway as a clerk in the superintendent's office at Fort William in November, 1895, he was promoted chief clerk the following year and in 1900 became acting agent at Fort William, being transferred back to Fort William as chief clerk in 1901. ## CONSTIPATION Banished for 20 Years

No one could have had more experience of constipation than this man. His method of correcting the trouble would surely put right anybody who suffers in a similar way.

"I am now approaching my 40th birthday and have used Kruschen Salts for many years. As a boy and youth I suffered at frequent times agonies from constipation. This was, after a time, somewhat relieved by a special pill compounded to a prescription, but which, at times, had a weakening effect. On someone's recommendation I tried a bottle of Kruschen Salts, and since then—a matter of at least 20 years ago—have used nothing else. My daily dose I take in hot water at 7.45 a.m."

—A. D. The six salts in Kruschen are Nature's own prescription for keeping the organs of elimination working properly—gently but surely expelling all poisonous waste matter every day. Start on "The Little Daily Dose" of Kruschen tomorrow and so take the first step along the royal road to perfect health.

When PAIN Comes

WHAT many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sour. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes the acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

One spoonful of this harmless, soothing alkali in water neutralizes at once. You will never use fast methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go, get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 50¢ a bottle—any drug store. (Made in Canada.)

BEAMSVILLE

With all seats filled Monday night the 1932 council got away to a good start and at a special meeting appointed the village officials for the ensuing year.

The council committees were unanimously agreed on as follows: Finance and charity, Reeve Osborne; board of works, R. O. Wilcox; fire, street lighting and property, J. R. Kennedy; cemetery, J. G. Prudhomme; water-works, George Seydmore; clerk, treasurer and superintendent of works, Albert Claus, at a salary of $1,200; C. P. Van Every, assessor, salary $100; E. E. Juhlie, chief of police, salary $1200; member of the board of health, Dr. W. Orth; fruit pest inspector, William Butler; fence viewers, S. F. Russ, E. Keith and William Astle; pound keeper, Harry Miller; workmen, Geo. Willoughby and Harry Tufford, at salaries of $75 a month each.

The engagement of auditors was laid over until the February meeting. An application for one of these positions was received from John Ritchie.

Licenses were authorized to one restaurant and one poolroom, all that were applied for. William Luey asked for better lighting on his street and also that a tighter by-law be drawn to keep dogs from running at large at least six months in the year. R. O. Cooper was granted a building permit to make certain alterations in his hotel building.

The Wentworth Street Baptist church basketball team met defeat at the hands of the Men's Club, Monday evening by a score of 30-13 in an inter-church scheduled game.

The door of the Dominion stores was forced sometime Sunday morning and the marauders got away with between $40 and $50 worth of tobacco and cigars. The same depredators damaged the door of Thomson's drug store. The wood was creased around the locks, but the door resisted what appeared to be a vigorous attack with a bar.

At a sheriff's sale in St. Catharines on Saturday, the corporation bought in the twenty-five acres of rock and wooded land along the mountain face, west of the reservoir, and extending to J. D. Albright's property. The price paid was $650, and had been held by a Mrs. Gillray. A valuable spring had been lately drilled on this property for the corporation and there were more indications of water to be found. There is also unlimited quantities of stone there available for road repairs. Five acres is tillable land and is planted in fruit. The corporation is now the owner of practically all the mountain brow facing the village for nearly a mile. In controlling this territory the control of the water supply will never be in jeopardy as long as the springs hold out.

Rev. Gore-Barrow, principal of Lake Lodge school, Grimsby, will be the speaker at the monthly men's club dinner in Knox church, on Friday evening of this week.

Miss Ruth Hartwell, Toronto, was the guest of friends here on Sunday. Mrs. Bruce, Ontario street, has returned home after a two weeks' visit in Cleveland.

Miss Gladys Galt was home from Toronto on Saturday.

Upwards of 200 growers turned out again on Friday night at the town hall and listened to M. J. Mahony, M. L.A., Arthur Craiss and C. W. Bauer, on matters that will have a lot of bearing on the 1932 grape crop, as well as those years following. Mr. Mahony dealt almost entirely with the many trips in the growers' interests to Toronto and Ottawa last summer and since, in order to confer with the government departments on the native wine standardization. The present standard will be maintained by the health department, and the wineries will turn out a better wine than they did before, said the speaker.

Secretary Bauer, of the markets council, stressed the importance of growers of fruits and vegetables signing up the registration forms sent them. If the council is to function, said Mr. Bauer, the forms must be filled in. Prospects, he said, pointed to a better demand for grapes this year.

H. L. Craiss, chairman of the council, told the growers to turn out in force to their annual meeting.

In a game of contract bridge at the home of John Powell, R. Stone held twelve aces in three consecutive hands.

The seventh annual meeting of the Niagara Presbyterial of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada, was held at Knox church.

WINONA

St. John's Women's auxiliary held a special meeting for sewing at the home of Mrs. J. E. Henry on Tuesday afternoon.

The old H. G. & B. freight and express shed at Winona has been sold and is being removed. Slowly but surely the old line is disappearing.

R. O. Y. Ainslie, who has not been able to assume his usual duties as teacher of the Bible class of Fifty Sunday school this winter on account of ill-health was presented with two plants last week, one from the Bible class and one from the executive of the Sunday school. It is hoped Mr. Ainslie will soon be able to be out again.

It is reported that thieves have been busy helping themselves to the copper wire on the old H. G. & B. lines and Hydro workmen are busy salvaging some of the wire.

Fifty church was filled to capacity Sunday, January 17th at the regular meeting of the Y. P. L. and the congregation heard a special treat when the children's choir of 75 boys and girls of Grimsby, under the leadership of Gordon Eaton, sang several very well rendered selections and led the singing of the service. The meeting was in charge of the president of the Young Men's club, Bill Hunt, and the president of the Y.P.L., Harold Knox. Mr. Lattimore of Hamilton, gave an inspiring address.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Ladies' Aid of Fifty United church was held at the home of Mrs. D. Jacobs last week. There were about 20 present. The treasurer's report showed the society had a successful year with receipts of $263.40 and disbursements of $245.70. Rev. J. W. Hunt presided over the election of officers, the following being elected — Mrs. W. B. Bridgman, honorary president; Mrs. R. Ainslie, president; Mrs. Martin, first vice-president; Mrs. Dawe, second vice-president; Mrs. A. M. Cocks, secretary; Mrs. H. Walters, treasurer; Miss Helen Bridgman, convener of flower committee; Mrs. Henderson, convener of dining room committee; Mrs. E. Walters, with Mrs. A. I. Fletcher as assistant, convener of kitchen committee; Mrs. Henderson, convener of visiting committee; Mrs. H. Barnard, convener of program committee.

The meeting closed with a social half-hour, lunch being served by Miss Jacobs.

An unusually large number of parishioners attended the annual vestry meeting of St. John's church, held in the hall on Monday evening. In common with the other churches throughout the diocese, St. John's was also able to present reports remarkably well maintained, as compared with former years, in spite of the economic conditions.

The announcement by Rev. D. H. MacLennan that he had asked the bishop to have him transferred to some other parish was received with deep regret, and on behalf of his many friends in Winona Charles Best thanked the rector for his steadfast Christian work here, and wished him god-speed in whatever field he might be called. Preceding with the election of officers, the congregation, in no uncertain manner, showed their appreciation and confidence in Col. A. A. Smith as people's warden by unanimously tendering him that office for the seventh consecutive time.

The results of the other elections are as follows: Duplex envelope recorder, William Kinloch; chancel clerk, Messrs. MacKay, B. F. Lewis, Kinloch, Basley; auditors, R. B. Basley and J. B. Puddicombe; lay delegate, George Glidden; substitute lay delegate, Fred Colebrook; sidesmen, Messrs. Tilbury, Best, Forbes, Puddicombe, Bradshaw, MacKay, Biggar, Basley, Cliff, Allan, Kinloch, Young, Lewis, Acres, Colebrook; advisory board Messrs. Colebrook, Biggar, Mac

Kay, Henry, Glidden, Puddicombe; the wardens, lay delegates, duplex envelope recorder, vestry clerk and a representative from the women's auxiliary, junior auxiliary, Sunday school and choir.

VINEMOUNT

Mrs. Bernice V. Taylor, who came from Lynden to take charge of the public school here in Jan., returned on Friday evening to the annual banquet and installation of officers of Lyndoch O.E.S., when she acted in her official capacity as P.M. Mrs. Taylor was presented with a beautiful electric lamp.

The January meeting of the Women's Institute had a splendid attendance of forty-two at the hall on Thursday afternoon.

An excellent program was presented at the Vinemount Literary society on Friday evening.

A debate, Resolved That Clothing of Both Sexes be Standardized, gave considerable amusement, as well as information. The affirmative was upheld by Miss Barbara Neale and Philip Shuker and the negative by Miss Cora Neale and Lewis Hawkey. By a narrow margin the judges awarded the decision to the negative.

The Uthmaniyah club met in the hall on Thursday evening, when 15 tables played. The prizes were awarded to Mrs. J. Johnston, first, and Mrs. Ellis Travis, second, for the ladies, and J. Johnston, first, and H. Southward, second, for the men.

ONCE OVER
ON SPORTSGRIMSBY LOSES GAME
AT NIAGARA FALLS

We had another game of hockey Tuesday night down at Niagara Falls and according to reports Niagara won by a score of 8 to 0. We think that there is only one way to express it. We heard a remark that the Grimsby team (blow) in the third period and the reports of the game would give one that impression. Every team has its faults and without criticizing any one player, but as a whole there is no fight shown in the front lines. This is not one opinion but a general thought and the sooner that punch is injected into the game by the Peach Kings the better the game will look.

"No Sir", we are not weeping. This Grimsby team has shown they are just as good and playing just as good hockey as any other team in the league. For instance Port Colborne walks into Niagara Falls for a 3 to 0 score, then Niagara Falls walks into Port Colborne for a 4 to 0 score, so put this in your income burner. That old stuff about this was the game they had to get off their chest; well they got it off and no complaints nor alibis to offer. It's simply one of those games which has now passed into history and just another night.

Next Friday night will see another game when Niagara Falls will be here and if anybody has a nickle or the odd dime let lay it two to one that the Peach Kings will win and this is not a lot of money, but the Kings are due for a win.

A lady suggested the other day that instead of calling this Grimsby team

Peach Kings call them the Sausage Kings because Bert Boulter and Roy St. John are both on the executive.

One of the bosses was not with the team Monday night. Harry (Pud.) Reid is laid up with a bad cold. This may be one of the causes for losing but Pep Shephard was with the team and no doubt with his past hockey ability he will talk it over with Pud and they in turn will find out where to strengthen the team.

The Peach Kings have adopted the first lines of a well known song, "Fight the Fight with all thy might." They tell us that Dyke Lawson played himself right into the ice at the Falls Monday night trying to put his team out in front but it could not be done.

How about this for an alibi. The Peach Kings arrive in Niagara Falls at 7.45. The ice was not ready, no heat in the dressing rooms; the team had to wait for heat. This came in time. They got all ready for the usual workout before the game and the lighting system went blooey and the game got away to a start at 9.15 p.m. This would have a tendency to demoralize any team. Game over at 11.15 p.m.

Then of course some of our citizens will criticize the way our arena is conducted, "Ho Hum."

Monday night we play Port Colborne here. This should bring out a big crowd.

FULTON - GRASSIE W. I.

Mrs. Fred Walker, of Grassie was hostess at the January meeting of the Fulton and Grassie W. I. instead of Mrs. Game as scheduled, owing to bad roads. In the absence of the president the meeting was in charge of vice-president, Mrs. Jason Merritt. After the opening exercises the business on hand was discussed. Arrangements were completed for a quilting to be held Wednesday p.m., January 27, for which Mrs. Aubrey Walker kindly offered her home. The secretary was asked to write for instructions for shipping a quilt to the west. Mrs. Spencer Merritt read a splendid paper which she had prepared on "Immigration". Information and figures were given which show the fluctuations of immigration in Canada during the past fifty years. Miss St. John and Mrs. F. E. Duck added to the afternoon's entertainment with recitations and Miss Marion Walker gave a reading. A call offered a variety of recipes, household hints, clippings and jokes. A contest conducted by the Misses Marion and Mary Walker showed plainly how few know their berries." Mrs. F. E. Duck won first prize while second went to Mrs. R. Walker.
